The Holocaust was one of the darkest chapters in human history. Millions of people were killed, simply because of their religion or ethnicity. The survivors of the Holocaust have a unique and important story to tell. They are witnesses to the horrors of war and genocide, and they have a message of hope and resilience that can inspire us all.

From Opposite Sides of the Holocaust is a powerful and moving book that tells the story of two Holocaust survivors who came from very different backgrounds and experiences. Yet, despite their different experiences, they both found ways to overcome the horrors they endured and to build new lives for themselves and their families.

Edith Hahn Beer: A Jewish Survivor

Edith Hahn Beer was born in Vienna, Austria, in 1914. She was a young woman when the Nazis came to power in Germany. She and her family were forced to flee their home and eventually ended up in hiding in Poland. Edith and her husband were both captured by the Nazis and sent to Auschwitz. They were both tattooed with the numbers 48423 and 52829, respectively. Edith survived the horrors of Auschwitz and was liberated in 1945.

Hermann Langbein: A German Nazi Guard

Hermann Langbein was born in Germany in 1912. He joined the Nazi Party in 1933 and became a guard at the Auschwitz concentration camp. He was responsible for guarding the prisoners and carrying out the Free Downloads of his superiors. Hermann eventually became disillusioned with the Nazi regime and helped to smuggle information about the Holocaust to the outside world. He was arrested by the Nazis and sent to prison. After the war, Hermann Langbein was convicted of war crimes and sentenced to life in prison. He was released from prison in 1984 and spent the rest of his life working to expose the horrors of the Holocaust.
